I'm a single mum, a part-time secretary and a mature student. So there's never a dull moment

On weekdays, I always at 5 a.m., a quick shower, then at the kitchen table and do my homework. I'm a degree in child psychology, so I rarely have a lie-in.

My son at 7.30. I breakfast, while he makes the beds and dressed. We leave the house together at 8.30, and I at school to the office. I work from nine two. Then I a sandwich and the library, where I usually spend afternoon. My son the bus after school to my mother's place, where I in the evening. Sometimes my mother cooks for all of us, or my son and I get a Chinese on the way home. After dinner we often on the couch and watch a film going to bed around ten. We normally all the housework on Saturdays. On Sundays, we the day off and do something special, like go hiking with friends.
